TRAVELERS' AID SOCIETY TO BE FORMED HERE.

The Pensacola Commercial Association has called a meeting of representatives of the various benevolent societies of the city, for the purpose of forming a Travelers' Aid Society in Pensacola. They will meet Monday afternoon at 3:30 in the parlors of the San Carlos hotel. The meeting was called at this time and place in order to make it convenient for the lady representatives of these societies to be present.

The Pensacola Commercial Association was represented at the Travelers' Aid conference which met in Atlanta, April 24-25th, by Mr. O. L. Steele of the Zimmern Coal Company. There were nineteen states represented at this conference, practically all of the larger cities in the South sending representatives. This work is being done by nearly all cities of 20,000 or over in the South.

Mr. Orin C. Baker, of New York city, general secretary of the society, was present at all the meetings. Mr. Baker has made a trip around the world to study the problems of the Travelers' Aid Society. He said in his address that the South was the first section of the United States to make any concerted effort to form a national society. Mr. Baker was very enthusiastic about the needs of a national society and complimented the South very highly on its leadership in the work.

There was a committee of nine appointed, at the conference, each representing one of the southern states, to draw up resolutions looking to the formation of a National Travelers' Aid Society. This committee voted unanimously to continue the work being done and resolved that some time within the year the New York society be instructed to call a convention to draw up plans for the formation of a National Society.

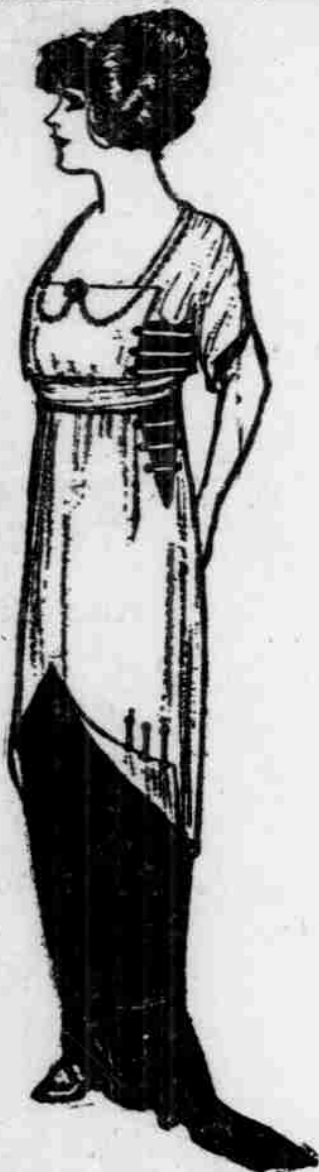

Mr. Baker was much pleased with the report of Pensacola's representative as to the plans for the society in Pensacola. He said that it was very wise to make the society non-sectarian, and that it was especially fortunate that the movement should have at its head business men, such as compose the commercial association here.

Mr. Baker said that the subject was of sufficient importance that all churches of whatever denomination might well ask their pastors to set aside a Sunday in each year to preach a special sermon on the subject.

While the society will prove a means of furnishing useful information and advice to all travelers, its main object is the care and protection of young women and girls who are constantly passing through and coming to our cities for work.

It is believed that the Travelers' Aid Society will have assumed a national form by 1915, the year of the Panama Exposition.

HANDSOME GOWN FOR WEAR IN EVENING

This handsome gown will be appropriate for formal evening wear.

It is of dull white crepe meteor and black velvet. The inset V sections on each side are of the velvet, as is the lower part of the skirt, which is cut with a slight train. Small turn-overs of black velvet also finish the short sleeves.

The bodice is trimmed with strings of round jet beads, and jet buttons catch the bands of white silk which are strapped across the V-shaped side sections. Similar straps and buttons ornament the sleeves and hold the revers at the front of the tunic.

LAMAR-FULGHUM WEDDING IN JUNE.

Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Fulghum announce the engagement of their daughter, Julia Lurleyne, to Mr. James Wallace Lamar, the wedding to take place early in June.

This announcement will be received with unusual interest by the friends of both Miss Fulghum and Mr. Lamar, not only because of the wide popularity which they enjoy but because in marrying this young business man of Pensacola, the bride-elect will still remain the center of that circle of friends which have been hers since childhood.

Miss Fulghum, though a Georgian by birth, has made her home in Pensacola for a number of years and through her gracious personality and the musical gifts that are hers, has become identified with both the social and musical circles. She possesses to an unusual degree the womanly qualities of tact and charm, as well as beauty of a striking blonde type and is one of the most talented of the younger musicians of the city, the violin being her favorite instrument.

The musical entertainments of note are not considered complete without the name of this talented young musician on the program, and her musical gifts have been freely used for her friends and for charity.

Mr. Lamar is one of the younger business men of the city, who is fast becoming identified with its best interests, and has many friends in social and business circles.

DYE-RICHARDS ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Richards announce the engagement of their daughter, Ida, to Mr. William Columbus Dye, the wedding to be in early June.

The announcement of the engagement of Miss Richards and Mr. Dye will be received by the friends with no small degree of interest, for both are very popular. Miss Richards having grown to womanhood in this city and Mr. Dye, during his three years' residence here having won many friends by his fine qualities and compelling personality. Miss Richards possesses the rare gift of making and holding friends, and her womanly charm has endeared her to many whose good wishes are hers, and which are also extended to the groom-elect.

Convenience in a Refrigerator

is important, of course—and excellence in design and finish are to be desired. But these two points—FOOD SAVING and ICE ECONOMY ARE THE VITAL FEATURES that mark the difference between the money saver and the money waster. And right here is where McCRAY REFRIGERATORS show their superiority. In design and finish they are all that the most critical could ask. But the great features of this great refrigerator are THE ICE-SAVING, FOOD-KEEPING LONG SERVICE FEATURES—that have so firmly established the supremacy of McCRAY Refrigerators.

Cold, Dry Air That Circulates.

It is just as necessary to have fresh air in refrigerators as it is to have cold air. Air that does not keep moving becomes foul, stagnant, unsanitary—regardless of how cold it may be.

BY THE SIMPLE PRINCIPLE OF NATURE THE AIR INSIDE A McCRAY IS KEPT IN CONSTANT CIRCULATION. And by the same principle all odors and gases are carried off through the condensation. RESULT! You can put anything away in a McCRAY with the absolute assurance that it will not be contaminated by odors from any other contents of the refrigerator.

We want to demonstrate this wonderful refrigerator to you thoroughly. Come any time; we are never too busy to show you all of the predominating features of this wonderful ice saver whether you buy or not. If you live out of town write and we will be glad to mail you full information and prices.

Little Miss Cecil Stearns, who had the honor of being Queen of May on the occasion of the Veteran Firemen's picnic, was hostess after the parade to her maids, the little orphans from the Pearl Egan home and many of her friends. The veterans, headed by a band, called at her home, and after a few selections had been rendered, lustily cheered their little queen, who will doubtless carry as one of her pleasant memories, the recollection of this May Day celebration in which she took so prominent a part.
